KV offers 3 different types of Home Sessions

Studio Home Sessions use solid colored cloth/vinyl backgrounds (black, white, or gray) to create a studio look right in your home. This type of session requires an opened space approximately 8x8 ft depending on the age and number of subjects, 2 electrical outlets, and access to the space from ground level. Studio session can photograph a maximum of 3 adults and 3 children at one time. They last between 1-3 hours and are only offered between the months of November through March.

Enviro Home Session

Enviro Home Sessions are used to capture you're family in their own environment. This type of session only requires a home with good natural light or an area outside the home. With Enviro sessions KV does not provides backgrounds or props; we only use the enviroment, funiture, walls, etc in your home. There are no age limits but for large groups there would be a space requirement. Enviro session take between 1-2 hours of time, must be taken during daylight hours. Best news, they are offered all year round!

Natural Home Sessions use a combination of paper and vinyl backgrounds with hardwood floors to create a new look while using the natural light in your home. These sessions require an opened space approximately 6 ft long and 4 ft wide close to a large windowed area. Natural sessions are for children new-born-9 months of age with a maximum of 3 children at one time. Natural sessions take between 1-3 hours of time, are only offered between the months of November through March, and only offered during daylight hours. When scheduling a Natural session pay close attention to the time of day your space has the best natural light.
